

English for Law

English for lawyers and law students is in demand. We offer specialist courses during the year as well as 1-1 tuition. The courses can prepare students for the Cambridge ILEC exam and also meet the need for specialist teaching in areas of law such international business and contracts.

Stephen Guy specialises in teaching English for Law. He has a Law degree and is a qualified EFL teacher with ten years experience in teaching English for Business and Law. He is also a member of the European Association of Legal English Trainers. Email Steve if you have any questions about the English for Law courses.
